PROFILE

I was a graduate of IT, but did not work in this field for a long time now. I started to get back from where I left off. I am refreshing my knowledge and trying to learn new technologies that I can use so that I can start over again. I recently attended a coding bootcamp to acquire some technologies that would help me land a job with a minimum requirement as an entry level web developer. I continuously learn so that I can still adapt to the changes in the modern development.
